

It's the one day of the year when the philanthropic community comes together to recognize their own. National Philanthropy Day – celebrated across the country since 1989 – is the perfect opportunity to invite your treasured donors, dedicated staff and hard-working volunteers to join you for lunch in a joyful salute to charitable giving.

This year we honor:

- Harley Marine Services as Outstanding Philanthropic Corporation for its strong corporate giving culture and philanthropy to children's, health and human service organizations.
- Joanne Bamford, Cal Bamford and Holly B. Hunt as Outstanding Philanthropic Family. The couple and their daughter support Tacoma through their contributions to education, human services and the arts.
- Seattle Works as Outstanding Philanthropic Organization for its 25 years of exemplary work in fostering volunteerism and in mobilizing leaders for nonprofit boards and public commissions.
- Sanitary Service Company (SSC) as Outstanding Philanthropic Small Business for its longtime support of Western Washington University and more than 100 other Whatcom County community organizations.
- Jerry and Charlene Lee as Outstanding Philanthropists. The chairman of MulvannyG2 Architecture and his wife are shining examples of giving one's "time, talent and treasure" to support our community.
- Ryan Shannon as Outstanding Young Philanthropist for his fundraising and community-building efforts to support the homeless, feed the hungry and work to end world poverty.
